THE SHOUTING IS OVER. NO ISSUES, ONLY OFFICES. THE WRINGER PROBLEM. NO MORTGAGE MORATORIUM.

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1932 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO, ILL., June 17. — The shouting and voting nominating and endorsing, parading and singing, demonstrating, real and pretended, are over until 1936. As for the Republicans, it is Hoover and Curtis, nobody else had the faintest chance at the head or tail of the ticket.

A week from next Monday Democrats begin their nominating and demonstrating, and later the fight will be on.

Next January nobody will remember much about it.

HENRY FORD, who says convention issues did not amount to much, is right. There were really not any issues. There was a prohibition fog, much carefully ignoring in speeches of everything that men discuss in private, depression, crime, racketeering.

Luckily, as Mr. Ford says, "conventions can't give the people anything and they can't take anything away from the people." Everything depends on what the people themselves are, not on the particular individuals chosen to hold office.

THERE is a problem in this coming election, that Republicans perhaps have not sufficiently considered. It is the problem created by those that "have been to the cleaners" or as others express it that have been "put through the wringer."

THE WRITER talked this morning to one fresh out of the wringer just back from the cleaners, as thoroughly wrung out and dry cleaned as any man in the whole department.

He is justice of the peace, has been mayor and is leading citizen of a small town 12 miles southwest of Chicago. He said, "I have just turned back my last 17 lots, to the original owners, after paying all I had left on them. There are thousands of people around here who are going to lose their homes, to say nothing of their investments. If the government worried half as much about us as it has worried about Europe, we should be much better off."

"They gave Germany and other Europeans a moratorium on their debts of billions. Why don't they give us a moratorium on our small mortgages?"

IT DOES NO good to tell such a man, fresh from the cleaners, that for Europe to go bankrupt would be desperately dangerous for the United States.

He is not interested in Europe, but in the 17 lots, last of his property, just taken from him, and in banks that failed "taking my savings of a lifetime."

Six or eight million men out of work are not the only Americans that should make Republicans thoughtful.

The army sent to the cleaners presents a problem.

RAMSEY MACDONALD, at Lausanne, lets it be known that "the United States has encouraged us to believe that it will co-operate." He does not say in what. The United States is expected to "cancel its

SENATE BALLOT NEAR ON BONUS; DEFEAT LOOMS

Galleries Jammed by War Veterans; Many Others Crowd Outside

LEADERS GUARD AGAINST DISORDER

Senator Brookhart Takes Floor to Advocate Cash Payment

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 17. — With the galleries packed by war veterans and several thousand more massed outside, the senate today pressed toward a vote on the $2,400,000,000 bonus bill which leaders predicted certain defeat.

Jam Galleries Early
As many as could jam into the visitors galleries did so when the doors were opened two hours before the senate met at 11 a. m. meanwhile, the others milled around outside listening to a few speeches and otherwise whiling away the time pending a vote.

Leaders of the former service men counselled against any disturbance. Extra police were stationed at the capitol to take care of any emergency which might develop.

Brookhart Takes Floor

Senator Brookhart (R., Iowa) in an advocate of cash payment of the bonus, took the floor at the start of discussion.

"The bonus army might as well assemble here as anywhere," Brookhart said. "They have no jobs," he continued. "I can see no reason why 100,000, 200,000 or 500,000 shouldn't assemble here."

G. O. P. MOVES ON, CHICAGO READY FOR DEMOCRATS

Candidates' Advance Men Arrive; Convention Opens June 27

By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO, June 17. — The big Republican show is over, but the Democrats are moving in with an even more imposing array of political stage-trimmings, and the pause will be only temporary.

Having renominated Hoover and Curtis, chosen Everett Sanders, of Indiana, their campaign manager and melted down the great variety of prohibition views into a plank promising submission of a plan for modification, the hosts of the G. O. evacuated their Chicago haunts during the night with no lost motion.

Back to Normal
Today nearly all of the Michigan avenue hotels which housed them during the three convention days were back to the normal way of life.

Within a week, the Democrats will be in Chicago, in the same hotels, preparing for the opening of their own convention, in the same overgrown stadium on the West Side, on Monday, June 27. The vanguard was here before the Republicans were beyond the city limits. Advance agents of a dozen presidential candidates will be getting headquarters space in shape over the present weekend, and then it will be a matter of steadily increasing numbers.

County Agent Floyd Lower of Lisbon has arranged demonstrations at the Homer Gamble farm, two miles east of Winona, at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, June 22, and at 1:30 p. m. the same day at the L. E. Sanor farm, south of North Georgetown.

On the following Thursday Lancashire will speak at the C. C. Pike farm, north of Lisbon at 9:30 a. m. and at the Jesse Rupert farm, north of Middleton, at 1:30 p. m.

RED CROSS SEED USED TO PLANT 219 PLOTS HERE

Mrs. William Silver, Mrs. Myra Woodruff Work For Unemployed

DEFICIT OF $88 IS ANNOUNCED

No Appeal Made by Committee; Would Appreciate Donation Offers

Seed donated by the national Red Cross had been distributed to 219 gardens in Salem, of which 64 were plowed by the city committee. Others who received the seed found their own garden plots.

Women Work On Plans

Ground for these gardens was tested by the county farm agent, working through the Salem committee headed by W. H. Matthews. Practically all of the work of following up on preliminary arrangements for garden plots for the unemployed has been done by Mrs. William Silver and Mrs. Myra B. Woodruff.

Although the committees appointed when the Salem Garden club sponsored the garden movement did much work to get this movement started, many of the later details fell to the lot of these two women. They have spent $25 for potatoes and onion sets which were given to the gardeners.

Will Appreciate Offers

At present there is a deficit of $88, representing the cost of having the plots of ground plowed. In addition to this, the city gave $10 for plowing another plot. While no specific appeal has been made, the garden committee would appreciate any offers of donations to wipe out the deficit.

In connection with relief work done in Salem by the Red Cross chapter officials announce the donation of a 500-pound hog by John P. Neil, superintendent of the county home. This was dressed and cut up for distribution to needy families by W. L. Fuhs without charge. It took care of 60 families, and 100 pounds of lard are still available for distribution.

Jury of Six Seated In County Action

LISBON, June 17.—For the first time, a jury of six was sworn late Thursday afternoon to hear the case of Jerome Eagleton against Levi Anderson. Atty. Devere F. Grapply of Leetonia represented the plaintiff and Atty. Charles McCorkhill of Salem the defendant.

Counsel had read into the record the agreement that the case would be tried to a jury of six, and that a verdict should be signed by five members of the jury. The issue had to do with a claim of $39.

JURY FREES MARTIN IN DEATH CASE

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 17. — The murder of former Councilman William E. Potter of Cleveland, was returned to the status of an unsolved mystery last night when a common pleas court jury acquitted the accused slayer, "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin.

Held In Bank Robbery

Hardly had the verdict been given, however, when Martin was placed in custody again as a suspect in the robbery of a bank at Gas City, Ind., Nov. 2, 1928.

Sheriff Bert White, of Grant county, Ind., said two witnesses of the robbery assured him they would identify Martin, and that extradition proceedings would be started at once.

The acquittal of Martin on the murder charge came after he had spent 486 days behind the bars. It was his second trial, he having been convicted of the murder in a previous trial a year ago.

It took the jurors in the second trial just one hour and 40 minutes before they returned to announce the acquittal.

Martin Breaks Down

Martin, who in his trials had insisted he had never committed a law violation greater than bootlegging, broke down and wept as the verdict was read, spectators cheered the jury's decision.

Informed of the robbery accusation, Martin became downcast again. "Whoever heard of Gas City?" he said. "I've never been there in my life."

Potter was slain Feb. 3, 1931, in an east side apartment. His body was found several days later.

Detectives found the apartment had been rented apparently specifically for the slaying by a man who gave his name as "M. J. Markus." Through a long series of clues, the police became convinced Markus was actually Martin, and the arrest followed.

Martin was identified by several persons as the man who rented the place, but his attorneys were successful in discrediting much of this testimony.

RAINFALL AIDS FARMING AREAS

Short Shower Visits City and Vicinity Tuesday; 2 Die In Struthers

UI Local—RAINFALL
An abbreviated rainfall, accompanied by lightning, but which lasted less than an hour late Thursday afternoon, offered slight relief for farm lands and gardens throughout the Salem district.

While the rainfall brought only spasmodic showers, it was the heaviest to visit this area in two weeks.

More Rain Predicted

Weather forecasts for tonight and Saturday predict further relief from the drought that had prevailed for some time and has handicapped growth seriously.

Funeral services will be held Saturday for two Struthers boys who were killed when lightning struck a tree and a watchman's shanty at Lake Hamilton, near Struthers, during a terrific storm Thursday. Four other boys and two men were injured by the two bolts.

TWO EXPLOSIONS WRECK TANKER; MANY MISSING

Ten Bodies Recovered At Noon; Blasts Occur In Montreal Dock

FIREMEN INJURED IN FIGHTING BLAZE

Chief Is Among Missing Men; Member of Crew Tells of Tragedy

MONTREAL, Que., June 17.—A series of terrific explosions tore the oil tanker, Cymbeline wide open in Montreal harbor today and brought death to an estimated total of 23 men, and injuries to 63.

Recover 10 Bodies

Ten bodies had been recovered at noon, nine hours after the first blast, and 13 others were believed to be in the wrecked tanker's hold.

Fifteen of the injured were firemen called out to combat the flames that followed the first explosions.

Flaming oil shot 100 feet in the air when the first blast occurred as 100 workmen were rushing repairs on the Cymbeline in the Great Vickers drydock. The dock was built in England, and towed across the Atlantic to Montreal.

A number of minor explosions occurred and an hour later, while firemen were fighting the flames, and searching for victims of the blasts, another detonation, more severe than any of the others, shook the damaged ship.

Fire Chief Killed

In this final blast Fire Chief Raoul Gauthier, known throughout the Dominion for his courage, was killed with four of his men.

The bodies recovered were those of Chief Gauthier, Paul Benichou, J. Debrienne and J. Hamelin, three of the firemen who perished with him; and James Wilson, John Rid-dell, James Corbett, Donald Gunn and William Atherton, all employees of the Vickers company.

Minority Rules

CHICAGO, June 17.—Well, the old Republican convention of 1932 went into either history or the ashcan at 3:30 p. m. Thursday.

And say, I saved my "Injun" Charley Curtis for vice presidency. The rascals was just ready to stab him when we caught 'em.

Eighteen out of nineteen thousand yelled for repeal last night, but the one thousand had a vote. So there wasn't a vote in a car load.

Democracy and the right to free speech that you hear so much about had a setback there yesterday. Ex-Senator France wanted to withdraw his own name and propose the name of Calvin Coolidge for president. Well that machine just bunched him right up and threw him into the alley.

See you at the Democrats where they will let anybody nominate everybody.

Yours, Will Rogers

THE CONSPICUOUS PLANK

Few Americans will read the Republican platform from beginning to end. Containing numerous statements of interest only to minority groups represented in the party's whole structure, it is not intended to be of general interest.National attention naturally is given the conspicuous plank—the party's declaration of policy on prohibition, which, next to the individuals who will compete for the presidential election, is the most popular issue involved this year.The plank represents a concession to the increasing body of opinion, within and outside the Republican party, which has been demanding a showdown on the prohibition problem. It pledges the party to engage in the complicated business of renewal. It does not pledge the party to work for repeal.It will be only with difficulty that many will grasp the distinction between the two policies. A pledge to press for repeal of the amendment would have been a direct rebuke to the vast number of prohibition-ists within the party, who then would have found themselves alienated by a single issue. A pledge to give the people an opportunity to pass judgment upon an amendment allowing states to deal with the liquor problem under federal supervision maintains party unity.
If anti-prohibition strength be as great as the most ardent anti-prohibitionists claim it is, victory is assured them. If that strength be not sufficient to prevail over prohibitionists, the dry section of the party will not have lost its voice nor its identity.There is little wisdom in attempting to understand at this time the whole, intricate business of amending the Constitution. The political significance of the party's declaration is the important thing. The Democratic party, while it may deny recognition to that portion of its membership which remains dry and pledge itself to work for outright repeal, has at its command only the same constitutional avenues of approach as the Republican party has pledged itself to hold open. Both parties will recognize the necessity for dealing with the dangerous evils that have attended efforts to maintain the 18th amendment. This is progress, whether considered from the wet or the dry standpoint.

REVIEW AND FORECAST

The Republican national convention of 1932 takes its place today in political history. Further entries of action by the assembled party can not be made for four more years—years which Republicans and the nation earnestly hope will restore the relative calm of improved national conditions.Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis again will head the ticket, renominated without a contest. It has been remarked often that among the delegates in Chicago
there was scarcely a trace of the enthusiasm that party adherents traditionally show for their leaders.
Might this not be a favorable sign?
Might it not be an indication that some of the ridiculous flamboyance that has been a discredit to politics is being forced out in the present struggle with hard facts?The platforms of the two parties are both reviews and forecasts. Republicans have set forth at considerable length their claim of merit for their preceding efforts and their future program. Under the administration of Herbert Hoover, the party has been the buffeting point thrown against economic adversity.
It presents Mr. Hoover's record without apology, in the invariable manner of politics.A statement of broad general interest, remarkable in the fact that it amounts to public castigation of certain Republicans in their own party platform, is that one dealing with party regularity. If any proof be needed to convince Americans that the instrument of good gov-ernment is the two-party system, it is available in the record of the present congress. Party control simply did not exist in the house, Republican representatives stampeding with those Democrats to bring about the destruction of any kind of a legislative plan. Americans have profound respect for independent thinking, but they mistrust thinking so independent that it ceases to be representative of anything but local prejudices, wild theories and self-seeking ambition.Since it is primarily a bid for support in the election, the platform necessarily includes many divisions addressed to specifically designated groups. Demands for short platforms that can be memorized are perennial, but the platform function forbids fulfillment.
Even the Republican statement of policy on national prohibition had gained formidable bulk before it covered the ground.Considered as a whole, the Republican platform is as all other political platforms have been to the average observer—a lengthy document of little direct interest to individuals, but containing in its volume all the indispensable statements which are necessary to answer the questions of the millions from one end of the country to another who, the party hopes, will cast their votes for Republican candidates next November. The platform, in brief, is a necessary part of political equipment, sometimes embarrassing but indispensable, nevertheless.

What Others Say

DIPLOMAS BUT NO JOBS

New armies of the unemployed
are setting out these June days
from college halls and high school auditoriums. A diploma, but no job is the standard equipment of the 1932 graduate.He steps forth with exhortation of commencement orators ringing in his ears that he shall make this world better. But the same world offers him little opportunity to begin the process.This hard times graduate is on a tough spot; no doubt of it. For years he and his parents have been saving and struggling toward the day when he shall "take his place in the world," properly prepared.
And now it turns out there is no place, or at least mighty few of them.For some time to come the half million young Americans who will be completing what is politely called their "formal education" in college and high school this year, are likely to be an addition to the army of American jobless, already 8,000,000 strong.But youth will not be denied even when "no help wanted" signs are plastered on every door. They have energy, strength, a fair training and, one hopes, a spirit which will resist the heart-breaking experiences they'll gain in fighting for jobs.It is hard to be thrust into the world at such a time. It may take some time for the graduates of this year and last to see the advantages of their rough experiences. Those who come in contact with them as they make the rounds can help with a word of cheer and a cordial handclasp even if they can't give them
what they want most.The best hope is that the graduates of today will be so impressed with their difficult reception that they'll surpass their elders in striving to eliminate some of the faults of the economic machine which greets them so coldly.—Cleveland

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Gallstones Diagnosed by X-ray

It is a common experience to hear about someone who suffers from gallstones, but I hope you have never witnessed the agony of a sufferer, from gallstone colic. If you have, you appreciate the terrible pain associated with this ailment.Medical students often compose rhymes or slogans to remind them of the various disorders, and in these
"fat fat and forty" is applied to gall-
stone sufferers. Of course, this condition
may be found in young, thin
or dark-skinned individuals, but gallstones and inflammations of the gall bladder most frequently are found in women who have had several children, and who have passed the age of forty.Contrary to common belief, gallstones do not always cause discomfort. Pain occurs only when the stone is trying to pass out of the gall bladder. This produces marked spasms of the local muscles, with severe pain in the region of the lower border of the ribs on the right side.Between attacks a mild neuroi-tic or dull ache in the right shoulder may be the only complaint,
and this is frequently confused with arthritis or rheumatism.A small gallstone sometimes obstructs the passage of bile into the intestine. In that event the bile is forced into the blood stream and causes a peculiar yellowish staining of the skin, called "jau-ndice," while nausea, indigestion, loss of appetite, constipation and other symptoms also may be present. These disorders are often treated by home remedies, without realizing that the underlying cause is a gallstone condition.Only within recent years the X-ray has been used to confirm the presence or absence of gall-

DR. COPELAND

stones. This marks a great advance in medical science. It confirms the diagnosis, and shows the urgent necessity for operation, or avoids unnecessary operation.First the patient is given a special powder to swallow, which in time will reach the gall bladder, if an X-ray picture is taken several hours later, a dark shadow is seen in the region of the gall bladder,
and if stones or other abnormalities are present, they will be seen by the irregularity or absence of the shadow.Many cases of chronic indigestion, neglected under older methods, are now shown by the X-ray to be associated with gall bladder disease. Use of the X-ray here as elsewhere, has indeed been a great boon to mankind.

Operation For Removal

I want to impress upon the minds of my readers that once gallstones are formed they cannot be removed except by an operation.
This is the only safe method.
There is no recognized drug or other treatment that will dissolve or remove gallstones, so do not be misled by the many unauthorized treatments that promise relief. But do not worry about it, because thousands of persons have gall-stones and never know it, and mostof them live just as long as they would without them.
Diet is important as a preventive, rather than a cure. Fried, salty, greasy foods, and particularly foods rich in fat, should be avoided. All foods known to cause digestive disturbances should beavoided, and excessive eating is never advisable. Water should be taken at meals, and six to eight glasses daily. Avoid constipation, and if you have any pain or discomfort consult with your physician. If X-ray or other tests are necessary he will advise you.BLOOMBERG'S

creasing activity until the gavel drops.

The Republicans left behind them the memory of at least two events which bid for places in political history. One, of course, was the sudden upward surge of sentiment for prohibition repeal, curbed only after a real convention battle. The other was the final victory yesterday of Vice President Curtis in his candidacy for renomination.

On Verge of Defeat. For a time, even toward the end, it appeared that Curtis was on the verge of defeat, despite the fact that every key man in the convention understood. President Hoover wanted his running mate of 1928 kept on the ticket. There was wet opposition to him. There was a movement for a younger and more spectacular figure. And there was an important undercurrent of opposition growing out of the social war which had been waged, over precedence, between Mr. Curtis' sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, and Alice Longworth.

200 Striking Miners Are Found In Woods

CADIZ, O., June 17.—Two hundred alleged striking miners were discovered in a wood today near New Athens by Deputy Sheriff Arthur Estep as he was accompanying 22 men from there to the O. and P. mine where they were employed.

Five Ohio national guardsmen answered Estep's call for help. Near the mine the highway was blocked by machines and as the alleged strikers jumped in the road they were covered by machine guns and ordered to move. They complied with the order.

Carl Albright and Nestor Adams, both of Jewett, today pleaded guilty to assault charges in connection with the stoning of a bus carrying miners to work Wednesday morning. They will be sentenced later.

Slight Losses Appear In Numerous Issues; U. S. Steel Sags

NEW YORK, June 17.—The stock market encountered a little selling in the early dealings today. Evidently some traders were disappointed at the markets apparent inability to better the peak levels of June 4, in its rally yesterday. Losses of a point or so appeared during the first half hour in American Can, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and National Biscuit, while U. S. Steel, North American and Union Pacific sagged fractionally.

The list turned dull on the reaction.

Dolly Gann to Lead Fight for Re-election of Hoover, Curtis

Strategy-Wise Sister of Vice-President Works Hard For Political Triumph of Incumbents; Feud With Mrs. Longworth Adds Interest

BY BESS FURMAN,
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 17.—There is no question about who will be chief woman campaigner in an effort to win again, in 1932 for Herbert Hoover, that feminine vote triumphant in 1928—it will be Dolly Gann.

Also Fights For Brother

Doughty, strategy-wise Dolly will at the same time be fighting for her brother, Charles Curtis to win at the November polls as she fought for and helped win the vice-presidential nomination for him in Chicago.

Looking astutely forward, she started her campaign a year ahead of yesterday's showdown, travelling from city to city, talking from the platform Herbert Hoover and the Republican party, chatting on the side about Brother Charlie.

And it did count for her here! The men strategists couldn't think up counter-candidate moves fast enough to balk her, as she staunchly stood her ground on that built-up, vote-pulling popularity.

Feud Adds To Interest

All the twitting and the fun-making about that Gann-Longworth controversy, talked on country-club piazzas and in sewing circles, the nation over, turned to her advantage.

That was what brought the women, by thousands, to hear Dolly Gann wherever a speech was announced. They came and she won them, and the men knew it.

The old chatter of Alice Longworth's silent feud against her followed her here, continued to the last convention moment, with talk still scurrying the rounds that Alice in the gallery across was playing her pawns to frustrate Dolly.

It may have been just talk, but it sharpened interest.

After that tense moment when the Pennsylvania delegation switched and Curtis was nominated, Dolly got the ovation.

Women clamored around her box, holding up their programs to be autographed, jostling with importuning photographers and reporters, begging her boldly scrawled "Dolly Gann" to top the thick book of convention proceedings.

For many of the heroine worshippers, Dolly Gann was the convention.

She autographed, and she autographed, until her car came, and her chauffeur was starting off.

And the lifted programs were still stretched toward her, beseechingly.

"Send Them to Washington"

"Send them on to Washington to be autographed!" called back Dolly, the astute politician.

Into the campaign already—Dolly Gann. In it, unquestionably, to fight

Total British debts payments to date exceed the total of receipts by $200,000,000, he said, but Great Britain is willing to pass up its claim, "so fully convinced are we that only radical measures can restore the confidence without which the wheels of credit cannot revolve."

He emphasized, as Prime Minister MacDonald did yesterday, that the need for speed is imperative.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY
BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY J. P. F. P. INC., DISTRIBUTED BY KNOX PUBLISHING SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, "The Night Club Lady," and her guest, Christine Quires are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scorpions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett, the last person to see Christine alive. Lola had blackmailed Everett. He, however, claims that Christine discovered a plot to kill Lola and feared for her own life because of her knowledge. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt learns that a young Paris bank clerk named Basil Boucher, loved Lola. After robbing a bank to buy her a ruby, Basil disappeared. His parents sold medical laboratory specimens. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, became hysterical at the mention of Basil, calling her daughter a beast and saying Lola never loved him. Edward Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Christine was to have inherited wealth shortly. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. He had stated heart failure caused the deaths. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead—from a scorpion bite! Mrs. Baldwin reveals that she knew her husband was involved with Lola. Detectives report Baldwin met a man who gave him a box. The Commissioner wonders if the doctor was the victim of a trick or deliberately released the scorpion. A search of the physician's desk is made.

"My God, Tony," he called, "Look what we have found here!"

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE
Colt was opening drawer after drawer finding a supply of envelopes and writing papers here, a tin box of stamps there, and still not a shred, not a scrap, of any intimate, personal data. There remained but two drawers yet to go, when I heard Colt give a low exclamation of triumphant surprise.

"My God, Tony," he called, "Look what we have found here!"
The Commissioner was holding up an envelope, long and white and sealed, across the face of which was written in bold black strokes: "Statement of Hugh Baldwin, M. D. To be opened only if and when he dies suddenly or mysteriously."

Colt handed that envelope with the greatest care. With no knowledge of what it contained, he realized that here in his hand might lie an explanation of three tragedies.

On the other hand, it might be nothing of the kind. Often enough, fraudulent statements cleverly forged have been left near dead bodies, to make death appear self-inflicted. In such cases the very sealing of the envelope may hold a fragile and yet most valuable clue. Thus Colt treated this sealed document with almost reverential respect.

He carried it over to the window and held it up to the light. Through the rather flimsy linen paper, of the envelope, he could make two vampires in human form or go out without leaving behind me the evidence that shall revenge my murder. And it is likely that if I do go suddenly and violently, it will be murder.

"The facts of my relationship with these two women are simple and direct enough. I was the physician for Mr. Gifford, the husband of Lola Carewe. Mr. Gifford was not a very ill man at the time of his marriage. He suffered from indigestion and I treated him for this with a simple remedy. But upon one occasion, I wrote a prescription and through some incredible fragment of circumstance which deflected my attention at the time I was writing the prescription, I wrote down an ingredient which I had no intention of ordering. The combination which I had prescribed resulted therefore in a poisonous dose. The fact is that I trusted my physician, killed Mr. Gifford.

"Of course, I did not intend to kill him. But he did die solely as a result of my carelessness. When I realized what had happened, I was struck dumb with horror. I had always been an honorable practitioner. I have often heard the joke that doctors bury their mistakes. I know that honorable doctors do nothing of the kind. I went directly to the widow, whom the world now knows as Lola Carewe, and told her what I had done. She took pity on me with what seemed to me then a great compassion. She told me that she could find it in the heart to forgive and forget, but that she felt in justice to herself I should write out a statement and give it to her.

"This I did, I thought the matter was over. The door was closed on that incident and I breathed freely. In a little while, it was to me as if it had never happened. But how wrong I was! Suddenly I had to open that door in my life again. For Lola Carewe now began to hold over me a power that practically made me her slave. She made me invest my savings in her worthless schemes. And worse than that she had me do!

"At the time her husband died, I had the moral courage to face the world and acknowledge my mistake. I could have begun life all over again—if not in my profession, then in some other work where new success did not depend upon the trust of people who would commit their safety, their very lives, to my hands. In the exaltation of my remorse I could have given up being a doctor and started life anew. But now that inspired mood had passed. I had been forgiven, I did not have the courage to defy Lola when she made these demands on me. Now my career, my profession, my work, had become dearer to me than anything else. I am a good physician and I am proud of my record in spite of that one fatal mistake. But I have been a weak tool in this woman's hands.

"It was thus that I came to know the real mystery of Lola Carewe. I was one of the few men in New York who ever knew the truth about her. Of course I did not know all. Probably no one but Lola could claim that sinister distinction. But I knew enough to understand the amazing practices which she introduced into New York. I learned how Lola kept herself unceasingly in funds, although she was notoriously one of the most extravagant women in New York.

"Lola Carewe was a blackmailer. That was the only card she knew how to play. She would not gamble or steal, and I do not believe she had it in her heart to love any man. No other crime interested her except extortion. In that grisly and awful business she seemed to take an unholy pleasure. From this came her money, in a secret, underground river of gold. The number of men and women in New York City who have paid tribute to this blackmailing beauty would astonish the rest of the town.

"Lola introduced no fancy sleights of her own into her blackmailing schemes. She used the time-worn methods. She first led her victim into some vicious practice or pursuit, got overwhelming evidence, and then bled him for the rest of his life. It is a game probably as old as the Bible courtesans. There is nothing new in it. But it continues to be terribly effective.

"How, then, did I fit in to such a picture? How could I help her in her infamous conduct? The answer is simple and horrible—I provided drugs for her friends. She seduced and made them overeating victims of cocaine, morphine, hashish, and opium. She generally began with the use of marijuana cigarettes. I provided the drugs. I was in her power—the only power that she understood or cared to use—and she blackmailed me into giving her victims the drugs they demanded. Later she did not care whether I gave them the drugs or not—all that she wanted, then, was tribute money. If it were not forthcoming, wife or husband was betrayed, homes wrecked—it was seldom that her levy was not paid on time.

RANDOM NEWS AND VIEWS OF COURTHOUSE

Interesting Sidelights From County Seat
By M. K. ZIMMERMAN

TAX PAYERS of Columbiana county contribute in a large way to charitable causes under existing laws, it has been pointed out by County Auditor John H. Irwin and Commissioner of the Columbiana County Agricultural society, sponsoring the county fair and also the County Farm bureau.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out that the postoffice department pays for rural mail distribution in this county approximately $65,000 annually. From 18 postoffices in the county about 40 rural mail routes radiate. Rural mail carriers receive an average of $134 monthly, or $5,360 per month, and for the year period, $64,320. There has been a tendency on the part of the postoffice department of late to consolidate routes, thereby reducing overhead charges, and this has been made possible because of the extension of improved highways. With improved roads, rural mail carriers can cover a greater distance in shorter time than when the rural mail delivery system was first inaugurated.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY John E. Bauknecht has many duties to perform, and among them is the collection of "findings" returned by state examiners after county and township public records are reviewed. Immediately after each official report is received by this office from the bureau of inspection of public offices, Columbus, the office of the prosecuting attorney becomes active. Those against whom findings have been reported have been summoned to advise if there is any cause why the finding should not be paid, and if no reason is disclosed, collection is immediately enforced. At times a letter from Prosecuting Attorney Bauknecht has the desired result, and again at times those concerned are summoned for an interview. In the end, however, the desired result is usually accomplished, and that is the payment of the finding.

WHETHER or not the proposal of common pleas judges in Mahoning county will be followed in this county, which has to do with the elimination of jury trials during the remainder of the year, has not been determined. It has been explained by Judge W. Frank Jones, that by agreement between counsel, a jury of six can hear a case instead of a panel of 12. Recently, 16 jurors were in court at Lisbon awaiting the call of Court Bailiff James G. Stevenson. Each side, however, is entitled to two challenges, and 16 jurors are necessary before 12 are chosen. Frequently when the jury box is once filled, none are challenged or excused, and the statement of the case is at once made by counsel. Only a few weeks ago, a case was tried to a jury where only 15 was claimed. Two attorneys were concerned. The case was of "small issue, but as every one is entitled to his or her day in court, the case had to be tried. The jury cost was $25. This was in addition to other court costs. The latter costs are paid by the losing side, but the county pays the jury. Many are of the opinion that the existing jury law should be so revised that the jury fees could be taxed as costs.

Since that time another issue has been placed on the appearance docket where only $7.50 is involved.

COUNTY AUDITOR John H. Irwin has been presented with a green glass communion wine decanter that is claimed to be over 100 years old. The late J. T. Irwin, grandfather of Auditor Irwin, was a local minister and preached many times in M^r. Zion Methodist church near East Palestine. When J. Clyde Huston was elected an elder of this congregation in 1852, the communion wine decanter that was imported from Scotland was given Mr. Huston by Mr. Irwin. The decanter later became an heirloom in the home of Marion Huston, Middleton township. A few days ago Mr. Huston took the decanter to Lisbon and presented it to Auditor Irwin.

James L. Babb, through his counsel, J. C. Hanley has filed a divorce petition in common pleas court against his wife, Mildred I. Babb, 1621 Cleveland avenue, East Liverpool, setting up the ground of gross neglect of duty. Claim is made by the plaintiff that the defendant has refused to keep house and has been in the company of other men. They were married May 4, 1930.

Denver C. Davis, defendant in a divorce action filed against him by his wife Feb. 25, 1924, has been cited by Judge W. F. Jones to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. Mrs. Davis, under an order of the late Judge James G. Moore, was to receive $7.50 weekly from her husband, and when she obtained a decree May 5, 1924, the order was not changed. Davis was to continue to pay $7.50 weekly until further order of court.

Commission Warns Against Civil Service School Course

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The following statement is made by the United States Civil Service Commission:

The commission warns the public against paying money for "coaching" courses in preparation for federal civil service examinations.

Schools which sell such courses under present conditions accept money under false pretenses. A purveyor of civil service courses is now under indictment in Iowa for false representation. It is expected that other such cases of prosecution will follow.

Comparatively few appointments are being made in the federal civil service. Vacancies which must be filled are filled by the transfer of those in the service or the reassignment of those who have been in the service, wherever practicable. It is seldom necessary to announce an examination. In most cases large registers of eligibles exist as a result of examinations held during the past year. When an examination is announced, the applicants are usually hundreds of times in excess of the need.

Money paid for civil service coaching courses at this time might almost as well be thrown to the four winds.

GANGSTERS DIE IN POLICE TRAP

Chicagoans Slain In Plot To Extort Money From Gambling House

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 17.—A gang of extortionists walked into a police trap laid in a loop gambling establishment yesterday and three of its members were shot to death. A fourth escaped.

Today the police revealed the three men killed had been warned of their fate by a police lieutenant, just a week ago.

"Some day the police are going to get tired of bringing you in here and they'll send you to the morgue," Lieut. Edward Birmingham told them.

The warning was prophetic.

"Tipped off," that gangland extortionists were to call at the gambling place yesterday and demand payment of $25,000 under threat of death, police under Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, lay in waiting.

Four men appeared on schedule. Harold Partner, 29, Samuel Katz, 27, and Frank Rogers, 31, all minor gangsters and police characters, were mowed down upon opening fire on the officers.

The fourth who escaped was not identified.

THE DAY IN SPORTS

RUPPERT LAUDS BASEBALL

"BASEBALL is the greatest of all sports. It provides thrills, excitement and clean entertainment. Day in and day out, it is the greatest show on earth. Every man who sees baseball, customer or owner is a fan."

Col. Jacob Ruppert sat in his office recently and discussed baseball, the pennant chances of the Yankees, and finally gave his definition of a perfect baseball season.

"A perfect season would be one where the Yankees won every game of the season, took the world series in four straight. And then there is Newark, of course they would have to win, and so would Springfield."

"You don't want much, Colonel," one of the listening group remarked.

"Well, that's right," said Col. Ruppert. "When you are in baseball you cultivate a winning habit and a winning disposition. Miller Huggins always said that a winning disposition was everything to a baseball man. I didn't understand him in the beginning, but I do now."

"I LOVE TO WIN. I'm a fan. I get so worked up over a tight ball game that I would trade a ball player who made a stupid play or who didn't hustle. When you don't hustle you're not giving the team all you could. I figure that every team loses eight games a year because some ball player doesn't run out every hit."

"Someone said you couldn't take it, Colonel; that you left the stands when the Yanks were losing. How about that?" he was asked.

"A deliberate slander," laughed the owner of the Yanks. "I get nervous when the Yankees are losing, but no one can say I can't take it. How much do you suppose it cost the club to build up a pennant winner? Well, I'll tell you it was plenty."

Your agent may state at this point that Col. Ruppert and his former partner, Col. T. L. Huston, spent close to $1,000,000 buying ball players before Miller Huggins finally guided the club to the top."

With the genius of Miller Huggins to guide the team, that winning ball club became an American League Tradition, and still remains such.

"How do you figure the Yankees for this season?" Col. Ruppert was asked.

"Give us one more pitcher and we'll be all set," he replied.

"What, another pitcher?" sounded the chorus.

"Yes, another pitcher. If we had six Johnsons we'd want a Matty."

replied Col. Ruppert with a laugh. "No matter how strong we are, no matter how many games we win, we are always figuring how we can win another game and how we can add to the power of the club."

"SHOW US another Babe Ruth?" said Col. Ruppert and he went through the pantomime of signing another check.

"Too bad you can't beat Washington," some one said to Col. Ruppert. "They've trimmed the Yankees seven times in May, and you lost only eight games in that month."

"Well, we like to win in May, but we play off in October's rating. Washington has a good ball club, but it is not a lasting ball club, as I see the race. I'm watching the Athletics."

"Well, we have to watch them all the time. The Athletic's will go as far as the pitchers take them, no farther, and we are not certain as yet just how far those pitchers will carry them."

"I am satisfied with the work of the Yankees so far," continued Col. Ruppert. "We have beaten the weaker clubs consistently—we've fought the Athletics to a standstill. The team that does that wins pennants, and we seem to be on the right track."

ALL OHIO streams will be open to fishing after July 1.

On recommendation of Governor White, concurred in by Conservation Commissioner W. H. Reinhart, the Ohio conservation council Thursday adopted a resolution to re-open, July 1, all streams closed to fishing last January 1.

Governor White said the action was taken because of "economic conditions."

About one-third of the streams in the state were affected by the resolution. That proportion having been closed January 1 for propagating purposes.

THE CONSERVATION department, over considerable opposition, had ordered the closing of the streams under a program intended to increase the supply of fish in Ohio during the next six years.

Streams closed were to remain closed until 1933 when another third was to be closed for a similar period. Fishing was to be prohibited in the remaining third after the other sections had been restocked and the young fish had a chance to increase.

In line with the plan the state had dumped thousands of fish into the closed streams and a stringent patrol of their borders had been maintained to prevent angling.

LANCASTER, Pa.—Ninety-eight coaches from 22 different states have registered to ride Franklin and Marshall college summer coaching school to be held from June 22 to July 2. Harry A. Stuhldreher will give the football coaching course and Nat Holman will direct the basketball course.

Battlers Unworried by Small Gate; Ready for Renewal of Old Feud

BY HERBERT W. BAKER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 17.—Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey may put on one of the greatest fights of modern times, next Tuesday night, but one of the smallest crowds in modern heavyweight championship history may be there to see it.

All indications now point to an unprecedented lack of interest among the customers.

High Prices Criticized
There has been much criticism of Madison Square Garden's action in scaling prices as high as $23. The latter figure, for choice ringside positions, is out of reach of many of the pocketbooks that once shelled out double that for seats at previous title battles.

From an original estimate of $750,000 or more, the garden now figures a "gate" of $400,000. And even that, in the eyes of some critics, seems over-optimistic by at least $100,000.

They believe a crowd of 40,000 is the most the Garden reasonably can expect. The new bowl seats 77,000.

The fighters themselves seem to be concerned not at all about the size of the gate, anxious rather to renew their rivalry that ended so suddenly two years ago.

Await Fight Anxiously
Schmeling regards the bout as his chance for vindication before the New York crowd that saw him win the heavyweight title to ingloriously on a foul.

Sharkey, possibly the most erratic heavyweight that ever reached a contender's position, sees in it his last real chance to win the title he has sought so long.

Both are trained to the minute. Schmeling was down to 188 1/2 pounds after a five-round workout in a hot and stuffy indoor arena yesterday.

Sharkey was idle yesterday but plans to continue active work through Monday, the day before the fight.

The fight will undoubtedly give the millionaire directors of Madison Garden another financial headache. Even with a gate of $349,415 in Cleveland for the Schmeling-Stribling bout last July, the Garden took it on the chin for about $20,000.

However, they viewed Maxie's technical knockout victory over Stribling in the light of a future asset, and felt they would cash in on it in his next appearance. But the clouds of depression have failed to lift.

Ah, Those Dempsey Days!
If the match, one of the naturals of the sport, could fail to better $200,000, the heavyweight fight game will have slipped all the way back in a financial sense to 1910, when Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson fought for $270,000 in cash customers at Reno, Nev.

Two years ago when Schmeling won from Sharkey on a foul in four rounds, the receipts were $778,000, still far below the boom time mark of $2,558,000 for the second Tunney-Dempsey battle in Chicago, and $1,840,000 for their first match in Philadelphia in 1926.

Perfect Condition
The word from the warriors in the training camps was just as reassuring as it has been for the past week, during which both Sharkey and Schmeling have fought themselves into as perfect condition as any two heavyweights ever attained for a title match.

Sharkey rested during the day at Orangeburg, but decided that he will box six rounds daily, starting today and continuing through Monday.

A group of 30 navy oarsmen from Poughkeepsie visited Schmeling at the German's camp at Kingston, N. Y., and marveled at his condition and power in six rounds of boxing with three sparring partners.

Max belabored his assistants savagely, flooring one, a lanky novice named Dick Onken, for a short count. A warm rain forced the champion to take his workout indoors. He will quit work Sunday.

Ready for World's Title Battle

This is how Max Schmeling (left), heavyweight champion of the world, and Jack Sharkey, Boston contender, will look when they square off to do battle for the title at the new Madison Square Garden arena at Long Island City, N. Y., June 21st. On the last occasion the pair clashed, Schmeling was awarded the decision on a foul and a controversy was born as to what would have happened if it were not for Sharkey losing his head at that time. Some experts said the Boston sailor would have lost anyway; others that he looked a winner until the fatal low blow. Sharkey, himself, is confident he can down the Teuton Schlager.

Columbus Redbirds In Hot Battle for Association Title

CHICAGO, June 17.—Minneapolis and Columbus are putting on a swell scrap for the leadership of the American association, but they are not so far out in front that they can ignore Indianapolis and Milwaukee.

The Red Birds gained another half game on the Millers by trimming St. Paul, 5 to 2, yesterday, while the league leaders were idle, while Milwaukee gave Louisville a 20 to 9 wallop in a night game, to slip into third place.

As they faced off today, Minneapolis had a two-game lead over the Red Birds, and Indianapolis and Milwaukee were in a virtual tie, four and one-half games out of first place.

A fine pitching battle between Al Grabowski and Les Munns went to the former at Columbus, largely because of pinch hitting by Pat Crawford and Ivar Swanson.

Indianapolis outslugged Kansas City, 16 to 10, in a night game, but the Blues concentrated their hits in the seventh for six runs, and added another in the ninth to win by 7 to 6.

The Columbus outfit will inaugurate night baseball on their home lot tonight.

Prince Breezes Fast Mile To Threaten To Win American Derby

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 17.—Prince Hotspur, which will carry the colors of the Joseph Leiter estate in the $50,000 added American Derby at Washington park tomorrow, today had earned himself a lot of backing.

The prince yesterday whizzed through the most impressive workout of any Derby eligible so far, and his followers figured him as a big threat to the favored pair—Boatswain and Stephenfitch.

Prince Hotspur stepped off a mile in 1:38 1/5 and breezed through a mile and an eighth in 1:52 2-5.

About the time Prince Hotspur was making his move, Boatswain, accompanied by Gusto, another Derby nominee, arrived at the track making it certain that both will start unless ill fortune overcomes them.

There were no more withdrawals and 15 thoroughbreds were still listed as possible starters, although it was indicated not more than 12 will face the barrier in the first of Chicago's big races. Others in the prospective field were Our Fancy, Osculator, Big Beau, Mad Pursula, Marmion, Escillation, Brandon Mint, Sunmelus, Yonkel, Adobe Post and Cathop.

HIS HEALTH

IMPROVED 40%

After Use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you are constipated, read this letter which Mr. Murray had attested by Notary Public:

"Two months ago I commenced using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to relieve constipation. I am in better health today than I have been in years, due to the use of your wonderful bran. My bowels move regularly, and my general health has improved 40%."—George A. Murray, 288 K Street, South Boston, Mass.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

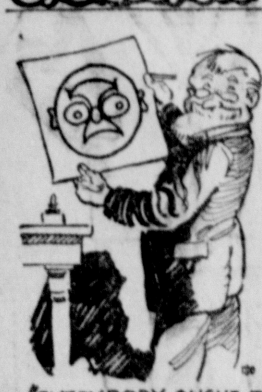

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much better to use ALL-BRAN than to abuse your system with pills and drugs—often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Former German Crown Prince May Succeed Von Hindenburg

Aged President Rumored Retiring in Fall to Place Hohenzollern Hand Upon German Helm. Seen as Step Towards Restoration of Monarchy.

ADOLPH HITLER. PRESIDENT PAUL VON HINDENBURG.

What is regarded by the masses in Germany as the first step towards the restoration of the monarchy in the Fatherland will take place on October 2, if rumors persistently gaining ground in Berlin are to be believed. The report, the source of which is one of the most important newspapers in the chain owned by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, opponent of von Hindenburg in the recent Presidential election and head of the Nationalist Party, is to the effect that President Paul von Hindenburg intends to retire on his 85th birthday and urge that he be succeeded by former Crown Prince Wilhelm. Although the rumors are vigorously denied in governmental circles, political observers point out that there has been a steady growth of Junkerism in the new Republic since Dr. Heinrich Brüning, recently ousted Chancellor, came into power. The appointment of Franz von Papen to succeed Brüning, they say, is further evidence of that trend. It is also recalled that just prior to the last election President von Hindenburg, Dr. Hugenberg, and Adolf Hitler, head of the Nazi Party, the three candidates for the Presidency, offered to withdraw in favor of the Crown Prince if he would consent to accept the Presidency. The plan, according to reports, was prevented by the refusal of the ex-Kaiser to give his consent.

Cigaret Tossed In Mouth of Grappler

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 17.—Mustapha Pasha probably will tell you that cigarettes and wrestling do not mix.

Pasha was wrestling last night with Paddy Mack of Boston. During one clinch he had the advantage of the Boston grappler and apparently thought he had won.

Pasha shouted—no half hearted bellow—but a lusty one in which his mouth swung open wide.

Then a fan—perhaps the same one who earlier had found a grappler reposing on his lap at ringside—nervously flicked a cigarette. It was not extinguished. Straight it flew into Pasha's mouth.

The bellow continued, louder than before, but the note sounded was agony, not victory. Pasha's grip loosened. Paddy suddenly twisted loose, leaped on Pasha and pinned him to the mat.

Launching of New Grace Liner

A good job well done, and the new $5,000,000 Grace liner, Santa Paula, slides down the ways and into the water at Kearney, N. J., to the cheers of the workmen who built her and officials of the line. Lower photo shows Mrs. Edward J. Ford, wife of the president of the Panama Mail Service of the Grace Line, as she broke a bottle of California orange juice on the bow of the new vessel during the christening ceremonies.

News Through Camera's Eye

Following Old World Trail

A. A. Lee of New York (center), formerly of Pittsburgh and Cleveland, and A. F. Kane (right), of Milwaukee, are shown as they appeared with their small native attendant and pack mule, enroute from China to India via an old Chinese caravan route. The party journeyed overland from Saigon, French Indo-China, to Calcutta, India, and is shown halting for a swim near Western Yunnan, China. Note the collegiate pipe which the donkey boy is enjoying as he suspiciously eyes the camera.

Caught Pointing

It looks as if Mark Requa is pointing with pride to some achievement of the Grand Old Party as the Candid Camera caught him in this pose at convention headquarters at Chicago. Requa is Republican National Committeeman from California and one of the big guns at the convention.

Republican Chairman

Representative Eustace H. Snell of Potsdam, New York, who will preside as permanent chairman of the Republican National Convention.
